About the Taiwan International Graduate Program

The Taiwan International Graduate Program is a Ph.D. program, started in 2002, established by Academia Sinica, the foremost research institution of Taiwan. In cooperation with top universities in Taiwan, Academia Sinica offers advanced, inter-disciplinary Ph.D. Programs in nine fields that span the natural and physical sciences, as well as computational linguistics. TIGP students will learn in all-English teaching and research environments, and enjoy access to world-class faculty and state-of-the-art research facilities at Academia Sinica and partner universities. All applicants who are admitted to TIGP will receive a fellowship from Academia Sinica. Fellowship will be granted for applicants who receive admission. The stipend levels are about US$ 11,000 per year. Additionally, the support will be extended to two more years for those students who perform well academically.

Application Instructions

Before you start, please read the following statements carefully.

Transcripts, GRE score, TOEFL, IELTS or Taiwan's GEPT score, letters of recommendation, the applicant's statement of purpose and professional experiences (if any) are carefully weighed during the evaluation process. The Admissions Committee may also evaluate research papers, publications and other original work.

A. Application Requirements

1. Bachelor and/or Master degree

In general, applicants must have earned a Bachelor's degree and/or a Master's degree by the time they apply for admission to the Taiwan International Graduate Program (TIGP). Applicants who have only completed the Bachelor's degree are normally admitted into the Master's Program and then advanced to the Ph.D. program upon completion of Master's courses. Please note that Molecular and Cell Biology, Nano Science and Technology, and Computational Linguistics and Chinese Language Processing programs only accept students with a master degree. However, applicants holding only a Bachelor's degree, but with substantial research experience and an equivalent Master course work may be considered by the aforementioned programs.

2. Academic transcript and Course content information

Formal transcripts from all enrolled colleges or universities should be sent to the TIGP Admissions Office. Transcripts may be sent directly by the Registrar of each institution or submitted with the application in sealed envelopes. Please provide an explanation for any non-standard grading system. Transcripts or records of all courses, seminars and examinations, including grades, scores, grading scales, and conferrals of degrees, must be in English. All translations must be complete versions of the original records. Irreplaceable records will be returned only upon request and accompanied by a self-addressed envelope.

In assessing your academic background, the admissions committee will find it useful to have additional information about the content of courses you have taken. On a separate sheet of paper, briefly describe the advanced courses you have taken in science and mathematics that are most relevant to your field of study. List the major topics covered, the names of the professors who taught these courses, and the authors of the textbooks that were used. (Courses to be described by Computational Linguistics and Chinese Language Processing applicants are not limited to mathematics and science; courses that are most relevant to CLCLP should be described.)

3. English proficiency

Students from non-English-speaking countries are expected to read, write, comprehend, and speak English in order to be admitted for graduate study. Applicants whose first or native language is not English are required to take a test of English proficiency as part of the application procedure. One of the following language test scores must be provided for application. Please note that test scores submitted must be taken within the past two years. Applicants should ensure that the test score(s) be sent to the TIGP Admissions Office prior to the application deadline.

Although the English proficiency requirement for admission may vary in respective programs, the recommended requirements are as follows:

(1) TOEFL: A total score of 79 on internet-based (TOEFL-iBT), 213 on computer-based TOEFL or 550 on paper-based TOEFL is strongly recommended as the minimum admission requirement for all programs. Please note that institutional TOEFL will not be accepted, only ETS International TOEFL will be accepted.

(2) IELTS: A minimum overall Band Score of 5.5 on the Academic Test of International English Language Testing System (IELTS) taken within the past two years is required.

(3) GEPT: In addition to TOEFL and IELTS, applicants in Taiwan may take the General English Proficiency Test (GEPT), administered by the Language Training and Testing Center. Under this option, applicants must submit their high-intermediate level certificate with the application.

The recommended requirements of TOEFL, IELTS and GEPT are summarized as follows:

TOEFL		IELTS	GEPT
Internet-based TOEFL (TOEFL-iBT)	79	5.5	high-intermediate level
Computer-based	213
Paper-based	550

 Exemption from the English proficiency requirement

The test of English proficiency can be exempted for applicants graduated from universities where English is the primary language of instruction, if the applicant provides an official certification issued by the Office of Registrar.

4. Graduate Record Examination (GRE)

An applicant as a graduate-seeking student must normally submit GRE test scores to be evaluated for admission. Alternatively, an applicant who fails to meet this requirement may submit additional academic records for evaluation, which is determined by the Admissions Committee of the applied program. Please refer to individual program brochures for details.

a. GRE General test (requirements vary with programs)

Please refer to the specific requirements of the program of your choice. A list of possible GRE substitution options, by program, can be found at the individual program site.

b. GRE Subject test (requirements vary with programs)

Please refer to the specific requirements of the program of your choice, which can be found at the individual program site.

Although Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores are optional for application, favorable consideration will be given to applicants with proof of good performance on GRE test.

5. Statement of purpose

Please provide on a separate A4-sized sheet of paper a brief statement of your scientific and professional interests and objectives, as well as your career goals. Include a description of your past accomplishments that are not evident from other documents submitted. Report your results on any research in progress, if applicable. List the memberships in scientific, professional, or honorary societies. This statement must be written in English by the applicant. It must not be written in other languages and translated by another person.

6. Three (3) letters of recommendation.

Each set of the assessment forms should be given to all three of your instructors or individuals familiar with your academic or professional work for assessment propose. The forms should be completely filled out, and returned to the TIGP Admissions Office in a sealed envelope with signature signed across the seal prior to the application deadline.

7. Additional Information

In assessing your academic background, the Admissions Committee will find it useful to have additional information about your professional experience, publications and other original work. On a separate A4-sized sheet of paper, please briefly describe the professional experiences most relevant to your field of study. Also, please submit copies of any paper, publications, or other materials that may serve to support your application. Make sure that your name and the program to which you are applying are listed in any such documents. As noted previously, we cannot return these documents to you.

In addition to the general TIGP application requirements outlined above, please be sure to review the program-specific requirements described at the corresponding program website.

Important note: Concerning the standardized exams listed above (TOEFL; GRE general, GRE subject), our institution CODE and Name are 7142 and Academia Sinica, respectively.

B. Application Deadline

Applications must reach TIGP by March 31, 2009. Applications received after the deadline will not be processed. TIGP offers admissions for the fall semester only. In addition to applying by post, TIGP now offers an online application option, available at our website. If you wish to submit your application online, please proceed to the <http://db1n.sinica.edu.tw/textdb/tigp/>.

C. Student Status and Degree Conferral Policy

Based on the Regulations of the Ministry of Education in Taiwan, students will officially register with our partner universities.
